Dear Dan:

In accordance with your request to Jack, there is attached hereto a price breakdown of our contract based upon the latest information available to us. It is understood that you will consider this as interim information and that it will be superseded by a revised price breakdown which will be used as a basis for price redetermination in accordance with terms of our contract.

As you recognize from discussions with our people, the attached breakdown includes nothing in the way of contingencies and we can only hope that such contingent efforts will not be necessary.

We will be pleased to discuss the attached breakdown with you or your representative at any time and supply detailed information to the extent that you may require.

Best regards.

Sincerely,
